

THE DOOMED MAN TALKS

SPIELER DOESN'T MAKE A FULL CONFESSION BUT PROMISES TO DO SO.

Tells of Another Crime of Which He Was Convicted—Speaks Kindly of the Military—Will Tell the Truth.

STAUNTON, VA., May 4.—Special.—Through the courtesy of Sheriff Watts and by kindness of Mr. Beck, who shows a great interest in Spiller, the convicted murderer of Lottie Rowe, your correspondent was permitted to see and converse with Spiller this morning.

After passing solid iron doors and steel gratings, Spiller's steel cage was found on the upper floor of the jail. The convicted man was lying on his couch, and had on a pair of glasses. Mr. Beck handed him cheerfully, saying, "Hello, Spiller, how are you? What are you doing with those glasses on?"

Spiller said his eyes hurt him and that he had worn them for years, to protect his eyes from the heat of his face. Mr. Beck's kind words and manner moved the man greatly, and as your correspondent sat beside him on his couch, his emotion was so great that it shook the iron frame-work. Tears trickled down the prisoner's cheeks.

SPIELER'S HISTORY.
In reply to a request of Mr. Beck, Spiller gave an account of his life up to Saturday night of last week. He was a slave on a plantation in about forty-eight years old, and lived with Charles Cunningham, near Petersburg, Grant county, Va. A man named Ed. Taylor lived there also, and was in love with a girl that he liked. Heard he was at his sister's house with the girl, and as your correspondent sat beside him on his couch, his emotion was so great that it shook the iron frame-work. Tears trickled down the prisoner's cheeks.

I had in my pocket a forty-eight-caliber eight-chamber Colt revolver, army pistol. I asked where the girl was. He said upstairs. I said, thought you told me you were going to marry her. He said he was leaning forward with his elbows on his knees and he had a "gun," thirty-eight caliber. I said, "Look out, you are a dead man." I threw my "gun" down on him as he jumped up, fired, and hit him on the right side, the ball passed around his body. He shot at me, but did not hurt me. I caught his pistol under my arm and placed my pistol against his body, but it failed twice to fire. I then beat him over the head with it until my pistol broke. He then went across the street.

I was told that if I would go away I would not be troubled. Nobody liked Taylor, but I wouldn't leave; went home three-quarters of a mile from town. Taylor recovered. I was sent to the penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va., and served five years and two months. The rest of the time was taken up by me, and I never had any trouble while at Moundsville; all treated me well. I was reported three or four times for having been in the penitentiary for some time. I went from Moundsville to work at the Hodely Wagon Works, and have been there ever since.

HIS LAST CRIME.
What about now, Spiller?
Well, that will be told. A man has been appointed to tell me that. When urged to tell, he said he had promised to tell that man "and do not want to be taken by my word." It is no time for me to be lying now.

A confession will be made, but not now. Mr. Beck's kind words brought copious tears from the doomed man. At the request of your correspondent he took off his shirt and exhibited his wonderful muscular development. There can hardly be anything like it unless it is Jim Corbett.

Spiller said: "I am getting thin now. I have a heavy load on me. I am not strong, but I am sorry. I shall hang, but I want to say to them young soldiers that I hope God will bless them; they did a heap for me. I am in the hands of the law, and don't want to be taken from the law. When I talk, thank God, I am going to tell the truth. I was foolish drunk, but did tell all."

The prisoner repeatedly said: "Liquor did it all; liquor did it all." He insists he went to Painter's house last Saturday night, went in, and went to sleep, and came away at 4 o'clock and went down to the bridge, and in the home, where he was arrested. The prisoner said he was never at John Rowe's house before Saturday night, and had never been in Joe Rowe's house.

He said: "The night before the execution I want a minister who can say with me all night. If I can't see the way, I want it pointed out." He wanted first to see a colored man from Harrisonburg, and added: "After I am dead I want my body taken to my home and laid out so that my children will see it, and that my child can be raised different from me and not be hung."

The convicted man has not lost his nerve, but he showed great feeling, and seemed to be deeply repentant. The prisoner finally thanked Judge Chalkley and Sheriff Watts for all they had done in bringing the troops here.

When left in his cell the doomed man, all alone, could be heard praying earnestly.

It is believed that a confession has been made, but the counsel for the convicted man decline to say anything about it, or talk for publication.

THE OTHER COMMITTEES.
The Evidence Committee—Yacht Interdict in Hampton Roads.

FORT MONROE, VA., May 4.—The two committees from Maryland and Virginia, which have been in session here for the past three days taking testimony in regard to the recent trouble among the oystermen in Tangier sound, have completed the evidence and adjourned until the stenographer can get his report. This will then be submitted to the Maryland delegation, the Virginia committee having the Maryland depositions taken at Crisfield, and after consideration another meeting of the committee will be called and a decision rendered. The time and place of this meeting has not yet been agreed upon, but it will be in the near future.

The yacht Interdict, with Lloyd Phoenix and Colonel Schuyler Crosby on board, is in the Roads. She has a number of relics from the wreck of the Kearsarge, which will be turned over to the Navy Department.

THORNTON SENT ON.
The Negro Charged with Murder in Pulaski—Miss Martin Well.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., May 4.—Special.—Phillip Thornton, the negro who was arrested here several days ago on the charge of murder at Pulaski City, had a preliminary hearing before Mayor Hancock to-day and the prisoner will be taken to Pulaski and tried for the murder of a colored woman, whom he admits he killed, though he pleads self-defense. The pulaski authorities, although notified of the arrest, have shown decided indifference.

Miss Laura E. Martin, whom Richard B. Guard shot on a train in Union station, in this city, several weeks ago, returned to her home at Faber's Mill to-day. Guard's preliminary hearing will occur on the eleventh.

THEY WISH TO COME.
The V. M. I. Cadets Anxious to Take Part in the Unveiling Ceremonies.

LEXINGTON, VA., May 4.—Special.—Cadets are secretly hoping that General Shipp, superintendent of the Virginia Military Institute, will decide to let them attend the monument unveiling at Atchmond May 20th. They say that the corps, to a man, will gladly pay their way on the proposed trip.

The corps of cadets of the Virginia Military Institute will, it is understood, go into camp about the 15th of June, to the hill opposite barracks. The boys will remain in camp until commencement. The final examinations begin about the 10th of June.

HAD TO LEAVE WITHOUT COALING.
Scarcity of Coal at Newport News.—The Fast Drive to Staunton in the Morning.

NEWPORT NEWS, May 4.—Special.—There is no disguising the fact that the condition of the coal trade at this point to-day is far from being satisfactory. Within the last two days at least fifteen vessels which have come here for coal have been compelled to leave without it. Most of them went to Lambert's Point, where it is understood they will have no difficulty in getting cargoes.

The Times representative to-day called upon Superintendent Parker, of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, with a view of learning, if possible, the cause of the trouble.

"We are feeling the effects of the strike," said the superintendent. "Last month was one of the heaviest we have had in the coal trade. Fully 50,000 tons was handled at this point. The demand was a heavy one, and then the strike came. It is true there has been no formal strike as yet in the New River fields, from which we draw our supply, but the miners there have largely quit work. Lambert's Point has been more fortunate. It had a large stock on hand when the trouble began, and there has, as yet, been no trouble in the Pocahontas regions, which supply the Norfolk and Western road."

Superintendent Parker further stated that the Chesapeake and Ohio Company hoped to be able to supply all demands for coal here in a week. When asked what, in his judgment, would be the outcome of the present strike, he said: "An experienced railroad or coal man would venture to predict the result. I hoped that the difficulties between the miners and the mine-owners would be settled in a few days, but they have not been done, and we cannot yet see the end."

The controlling interest in the Chesapeake and Ohio Steamship Company, Limited, is held in this country, and has been known here for some time. There was some dissatisfaction caused among the officials of the company by the published statements of Captain James Benwell, of the Rappahannock, having abandoned the Ems while she was in distress.

PASSING A ROGUE CHECK.
A Washington Woman and Her Son Arrested on This Charge.

LURAY, VA., May 4.—Special.—Mrs. A. D. Kelly, a lady about thirty-five years of age, in company with her son, a lad of some sixteen years, hailing from Washington, D. C., were arrested at Shenandoah, in this county, and brought to Luray to-day and placed in jail. They were charged with passing a check drawn on the Second National Bank of Washington, D. C., for $20. The lady and son seem to be intelligent and are well dressed. A mystery seems to envelop all their movements, and developments are awaited with a good deal of speculation as to the result of the examination. As yet no application has been made for bail.

HUGE MAKING PARRY SPEECHES.
Taking an Active Part in the Roanoke Campaign.—Tyler Harmon.

ROANOKE, VA., May 4.—Special.—Col. John Harmon, who addressed a large Republican mass meeting here to-night. He is booked for several more speeches here during the present municipal campaign.

Bayard Commander, Knights Templar, gave reception to-night, many invited Templars from other places being present. Each was presented with a handsome souvenir badge.

Tyler Harmon, who shot and killed Evans, a colored man, and was captured on the river, Wednesday afternoon, is still at large. A posse is scouring the mountains for him.

L. C. ARTHUR ACQUITTED.
Result of the Trial of the Ex-Treasurer of Bedford.

BEDFORD CITY, VA., May 4.—In the trial of Louis C. Arthur, ex-treasurer of Bedford county, on indictment No. 4, charging him with misappropriation of $200, the jury this morning returned the following verdict: "We, the jury, in accordance with the instructions of the court, find the defendant not guilty as charged in the within indictment." The instructions in substance said, "If the accounts might be in arrears, the jury must be satisfied of felonious intent, or acquit the prisoner."

Five other indictments await trial. The Jeter Female Institute building has been dedicated to the members of the Bedford High School for $2,000.

MAKING IT INTERESTING.
The Earth and Other Lynchburg Papers are Taking a Hint at Another.

LYNCHBURG, VA., May 4.—Special.—Just twenty-four days ago Col. Al. Fairbrother commenced to publish in this city a daily afternoon paper, called The Earth, and its columns have been watched for something sensational almost daily. Some time ago the paper was taken over by Dr. Carter's past record rather harshly, and the staff of the Daily Advance came in for their share of space in rather uncompromising terms. In yesterday's issue the paper referred to the past career of a prominent merchant, hinting in strong terms that he had been a deserter from the Confederacy, and had not paid his debts. In the same issue The Earth made statements about the desecration of the cemetery of political inconsistency. This was too much for the News, and this morning Col. Fairbrother received through the editorial columns of the latter paper a sharp rebuke.

Field Day at Randolph-Macon.
ASHLAND, VA., May 4.—The prospects for the field-day of Randolph-Macon college to-morrow are quite propitious, since considerable numbers of spectators are both on the part of those who have been making the arrangements and of those who shall contest. The tracks and tennis courts are in good condition, and, unless rain interrupts the exercises, the visitors will be well rewarded for their attendance.

The tennis contests took place to-day, and the whole of to-morrow will be taken up with the exercises, consisting of tennis, football, basketball, and jumping, and in the afternoon an exhibition of bicycle riding by experts from Richmond and Washington. An interesting feature of the day will be the awarding of a bouquet of flowers to the young man bringing the most beautiful young lady to the grounds, to be awarded by votes of the contestants.

At 4 o'clock the base-ball game between Randolph-Macon and Wake Forest, of North Carolina, will begin.

Only a Ramor.
Mr. James C. Gentry, when interviewed yesterday in regard to the rumor that the Richmond and Danville railroad would remove their Manchester shops to Charlotte, N. C., said: "I do not think there is the slightest foundation for such a rumor. The expense of such a move would be enormous, as the plant is estimated at something over a half million dollars."

'VARSITIES DEFEATED.

LOSE THE GAME TO NORTH CAROLINA IN THE FIRST INNING.

The Champions Defeat the Senators and the Bedegrooms Lose to the Orioles.

Results of the Races.

LYNCHBURG, VA., May 4.—Special.

AFTER a hard and exciting struggle the boys from North Carolina vanquished their old adversaries, University of Virginia. Not a last man was out did the most enthusiastic Tar Heel rooter think his money safe. When it was over, Marshall closed the game by being thrown out at first, wild yells and a great rush by white and blue bedecked admirers told that the Tar-Heels had at last succeeded in beating the 'Varsity at the national game.

Virginia lost the game in the first inning. Robertson's single, Oldham's base on balls, and Gregory's two-bagger, coupled with lively base-running, and Virginia's slow fielding, gave Carolina three runs. Had the index put up by the Tar-Heels the score, probably, would have been different. Nelson's plucky pitching kept his opponents from scoring more than a run after this fatal inning.

The 'Varsity outfield was imprudent. Harper again distinguishing himself by brilliant catches. Robertson carried away the fielding honors for North Carolina. Watts' clever sacrifice hits gave the 'Varsity both of their runs. Both teams meet again to-morrow in Charlottesville, VIRGINIA.

BOSTON BEAT THE SENATORS.
Giants Defeat the Phillies and the Orioles Win from the Bedegrooms.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Senators put up a fairly good game for four innings to-day, and then went to pieces and allowed the Champions to administer a lesson. The Senators were 1 to 0 in the first, but, like in most of his games, had to be relieved by another pitcher, who did even worse. It was not altogether the fault of the pitcher, for the Washingtons made the most disastrous error at second base in the seventh inning.

Boston, fairly slaughtered the Senators, sending nine men across the plate by good hitting, wild pitching, and errors by the home club. Weather clear, attendance 1,500. Score:

WASHINGTON.....2 1 0 0 1 0 0 1-5 7 4
Boston.....0 0 0 2 4 0 0 5-13 2
Batteries: Mercer, Stephens, Petty, and McGuire; Staley and Merritt.

NEW YORK, May 4.—By hitting hard to-day New York won a game from Philadelphia that should have been easier for the home team than it was. Two men were caught at the flats and Tienan was hit by a batted ball, which materially held New York's score down. Meekin retired after four innings, and Rusie finished the game in good style.

Delhi's batsmen were the sole feature of Philadelphia play, while the stick work of Van Halten, Ward, Tienan, and Davis was also great. The fielding of Burke, Van Halten, and Ward was magnificent. The weather was cloudy and cold, yet 3,000 persons saw the game.

BALTIMORE, MD., May 4.—The Bridgeporters lost their third successive game to-day to the Orioles. The latter team was pounded out of the box, and Daub fared no better. Brothers lifted a ball over the left-field fence for a home run, the first of the season. He also made a triple. McMahon eased up after the fifth inning and pitched on balls in the sixth and seventh. Weather threatening; attendance, 2,000.

CHICAGO, ILL., May 4.—The season opened here to-day with a very pretty contest. Captain Anson, the old Chicago favorite, Jimmy Ryan, came into the field for the first time this year, and was warmly greeted by the audience of 5,000 people. The visitors could do nothing with McGill, but two hits being recorded against him, while the rest of the game was a close, close work for safe drivers, followed closely by "Cubs" with two timely doubles.

WINNERS OF THE LEAF.

Defeated the Petersburg Yesterday by a Score of 16 to 2.

PETERSBURG, VA., May 4.—Special.—The second game of ball between the Norfolk and the home team, played this afternoon, resulted in a victory for the visitors by a score of 16 to 2. The Petersburgs went all to pieces in the third inning, and kept it up all through the game, only Kelly and Sandford playing good ball. It was decidedly the poorest game ever played here.

Leach went in for the Petersburgs, but being so badly supported, gave away for Widgins, who did fairly well. The game, however, had been lost, and the home team played lazy. Fry got in the new pitcher for the Norfolk, Klesenger, errors to the Norfolk, who pitched for the Petersburgs, making eleven errors in the game. The Norfolk, who pitched for the Petersburgs, making eleven errors in the game.

On Sunday night the Petersburgs leave for a two weeks' trip, going to Roanoke for three games.

In the County Court of Nottoway to-day, James White, a young white man, was convicted of horse-stealing, and his punishment fixed at three years in the penitentiary.

Alfred Lee Davenport, a negro, convicted of house-breaking, was sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for eighteen years. Both prisoners were brought here this evening and committed to jail.

WINNERS OF THE LEAF.
A Bad Track but Good Sport at Nashville.—Last Day at East St. Louis.

NASHVILLE, TENN., May 4.—Heavy rains last night spoiled the exercises at Cumberland Park to-day, and with-grawls were numerous. The attendance was very good, however, and the sport interesting. Leonas Last, who was a slight favorite over Caprivi, was the only first pick to reward his backers, although the winners were at short figures. Maj. Caesar Weatherford landed the fifth race with his colt Revenue, who was second choice in the ring, and the big Pepper stables scored the first win of the meeting with Queen. Summaries:

First race—six furlongs—Santa Maria, 10, Perkins (4 to 1) first, Cora Taylor second, Henry Young third. Time, 1:17. Second race—four and a half furlongs—Leonas Last, 10, Thorpe (7 to 5) first, Caprivi second, Dena third. Time, 57. Third race—Duncan Hotel handicap, 11,000 added, one mile—Linda, 10, Williams (3 to 1) first, Dacal second, King Lee third. Time, 1:44. Fourth race—six furlongs—heats—First heat—Say On, 10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27,
